

JUST THE OTHER DAY...

a friend asked me what I did just the other day. Here's what went through my mind.

Just the other day I launched the Total Online Video Solution for Attorneys,
I travelled to North Carolina to tell attorneys about video for lawyers,
I travelled to Florida and to Virginia to tell lawyers why they should be using video to market themselves,
I presented online seminars called webinars to hundreds of attorneys across the country about video marketing for lawyers.

Just the other day my son started his freshman year of college,
My daughter went to her junior prom,
My daughter loaded her ipod touch with free apps,
and my youngest son told me he wants to be a scuba diver.

Just the other day I settled a wrongful death podiatry case for $450,000 involving a woman who had a bunion removed and was dead 9 months later.

Just the other day, a man who had watched one of my online videos called me to tell me that I was talking directly to him. He was crying on the phone, telling me he had to meet with me.

Just the other day I attended a funeral for a good friend of mine; someone who was my biking buddy who I will always remember.

Just the other day my son started his EMT class;
my daughter began working at our local pool club;
my daughter packed her camp trunk; and my son excitedly told me he has 3 more days left of second grade.

Just the other day my friend asked me what I did the other day.
"What did I do the other day?" I said. "Oh, not much," I responded, with a smile.
